Figures Show Princeton Successfully Rode Out 1970's Recession

Princeton held its breath in 1970, waiting out a recession that bit deeper in many parts of the country but also was apparent to some extent here.

Inflation that seemed to have no ceiling and a stock market plunge that appeared to have no bottom influenced consumer spending in Princeton as elsewhere, and the effects were felt in all parts of the community. Business wasn't bleak, it just could have been a lot better.

TOWN TOPICS' year-end Business Index gives a general picture of how well Princeton survived 1970. It's not all grim by any means. (The Index for the fourth quarter appears on Page 31.)

One answer to what Princetonians did with their money last year can be found in the figures reported by the town's four financial institutions. Topping the list are savings with a jump of 15%, the second largest increase in the last decade.

Part of the rise is due to new accounts, which are constantly arriving, but it also reflects a desire by people, faced with uncertain economic conditions, to hold onto their money. Optional purchases were put off, and the money saved instead. And those stock market woes drove many small investors to seek the guaranteed rates of return on their savings offered by banks, which also raised rates paid to savers last year.

Checking accounts, which lost ground for three consecutive quarters, registered a whopping 18% advance in the final three-month period, and ended with a 4% increase on the year, an average gain. This influx of funds permitted the banks to push loans, mostly home mortgages, to a new high of close to $110 million. These three indicators have never failed to show an annual growth, since TOWN TOPICS' first Index 11 years ago.

The number of travelers' checks sold by Princeton's banks inched up 4%, after a 37% increase a year ago. In a recession year, it appears that vacations and trips were not postponed, but less money was spent along the way. In the year past, it was good to take a break from business, but a less expensive one.

Keeping the Old Car. If two weeks of fun in the sun were not postponed, it appears the purchase of a new family car was instead. New car sales here fell 21% from last year, registering their lowest total since 1964.

This is partially due to a two-month strike by the United Auto Workers against General Motors, which served to depress the fourth quarter total to just 411.

Battle over Battledfield Park Nears a Climax

The troops will gather at 8 p.m. Monday in Township Hall for another skirmish in the latest Battle of Princeton. Up for public hearing will be an amendment to the Township zoning ordinance changing the 12-acre Weller Tract adjoining Battledfield Park on Mercer Road, from a two-acre zone (R1) to a one-acre zone (R3).

Will the State of New Jersey move by Monday and finally announce it wants or doesn't want to buy all or part of the Weller Tract? Or indeed, will this Township Committee, somewhat different in composition from the Committee that introduced the ordinance in October 1969, go along with the proposed change or vote it down?

The state's Commissioner of Environmental Protection, Richard J. Sullivan, has tentatively scheduled a meeting for Monday afternoon with the Institute for Advanced Study which owns the Weller Tract, the Princeton Battledfield Area Preservation Society and Township Mayor James A. Floyd but there is no indication that the state will make a positive move by Monday night.

Would a meeting do any good or would it be just another confrontation? is the question Commissioner Sullivan asked William Starr and Alfred Busselle Tuesday when they went to Trenton to talk with him. Mr. Starr is head of the Battledfield Area Preservation Society and Mr. Busselle is a member.

Decision Hanging. "I said I thought it would do some good," Mr. Starr reports. He said he asked Commissioner Sullivan for an answer on Tuesday and the Commissioner replied, "I wish I could give you one, but I can't."

The Institute bought the Weller Tract, which adjoins Battledfield Park, in 1960 and would like to build faculty houses on it. Because houses on two-acre plots would be prohibitively expensive, the Institute asked the Township in 1969 to rezone the area to one-acre limits. The Township Planning Board thought it was a good idea, the change would bring the parcel of land into line with other residential zoning in the area.

And so the ordinance was introduced, in October of 1969. (Incidentally, part of the Institute's statement in an advertisement on page 16, is in error: the measure in question is an amendment to the zoning ordinance, not a request for permission to build six houses, and the municipal body involved is Township Committee, not the zoning board.)

Historians, conservationists, Quakers whose meeting house is next to the Weller tract, became concerned and so, finally, did the state.

Delay Granted. At the state's request, Township Committee agreed to mark time on the ordinance until New Jersey officials could decide whether to acquire the land or not. All this happened 15 months ago. In the interim, a new administration moved into the State House, agencies were reorganized and a new man, Mr. Sullivan, came on the scene. This meant further delay. Besides, where would the state get the money to buy the Weller land? The Institute had paid Corbitt and Jack Weller about $100,000 for it.

The Princeton Area Battledfield Preservation Society was formed to raise enough money to help the state buy the land for an expanded Battledfield Park. At present, says Mr. Starr, the Society has $15,000 in cash and the goal of $31,000 including commitments. All is conditional on the state's purchase of the whole tract.

This Is Princeton

At Monday night's Township meeting, Battledfield Society spokesmen will urge Committee not to give a green light to housing in the area until the state has made up its mind. The Society's position is set forth in an advertisement on page 35.

The Institute, over the past months, has scaled down its original hopes for about ten houses after a series of conferences with the Friends, the Township's Open Space Commission and the state. Last summer, after the state suddenly announced that it wanted the whole Weller tract, the Institute's Director, Carl Kay, went down to Trenton and persuaded Mr. Sullivan to think it over.

Compromise Offer. As it now stands, the Institute is offering to sell New Jersey over half the tract, including the woods and a historic lane. The Institute would also be willing to transfer to the state the 20 acres east of present Battledfield Park containing a high ridge and field that Battledfield Park experts consider the most important site not included in the present Battledfield field boundary.

The Institute would keep a meadow like part of the land for a cluster development of six houses on four acres.

Although the Institute owns 750 acres of land, the Weller tract on Mercer Road is the only part that is on main trunk sewers and has access to water, electricity and gas. Also, the Institute has an agreement not to build for a period of years on farm land acquired from Amos McGowan. Minot C. Morgan Jr., manager of the Institute, points out somewhat ruefully that no hue and cry was raised in the mid 1930s when the Institute bought for faculty houses about 12.15 acres known as the Maxwell Tract. It is next to the Battledfield on the opposite side from the Weller Tract.

Other protagonists who will probably appear Monday are representatives of the new Township Conservation Commission and of the Society of Friends.

In December, the Commission asked to reaffirm the former Open Space Commission's approval of the Institute's six-home compromise could only muster a 33 tie vote.

Sixty representatives of the Society of Friends reached an agreement with the Institute, but the Society's full membership has not accepted any agreement.

CASE TO GRAND JURY
On Campus. Trepass. Assault. In Borough Criminal court last week, the testimony involving a Princeton man allegedly trespassing on the University campus was sent to a grand jury to determine if it is indictable.

Jerome B. McGowan, 23, 240 John Street, was charged by university security officer Bruce L. Battle with trespassing and resisting arrest after he was allegedly found near a gate at Pyne Hall on January 11. McGowan, in turn, filed assault charges during the arrest process against Reuter, 25, Henry Miller, 35, and Stephen Verish, 22, all of the University.

David Warren, 23, 29 Wiggins Street, was sentenced to ten days in jail and $10 court costs by Judge Theodore T. Tams after he pleaded guilty to issuing a worthless check for $118.78 to an employee, Leonard Butler, 22, of New Brunswick.

Judge Tams said he would suspend the sentence if Warren would make the check good the same day, which he did. Charges by Warren of stealing checks against Butler, and Paul Nippos, also of New Brunswick, were dismissed by Judge Tams.

PLANNERS TO MEET
Shopping Area Hearing. Princeton Plaza, the proposed shopping court on Nassau just east of Harrison, will be before the Regional Planning Board on public hearing Tuesday at 8 in Borough Hall.

Developers want to use four lots, three on Nassau and one around the corner facing Harrison, for various shops and offices. Site plan review for Princeton Plaza will be held on Tuesday also.

Request by the Princeton Water Company to place a link in the flood hazard area on Lower Alexander Street will also be up for approval.

Profile of a Year in Princeton

In seven years. The auto industry is counting on a revival of demand in 1971, and hopes to turn out 8.5 million autos against 6.6 million in 1970.

Construction figures, which include data on new housing and building permits, fell for the second year in a row, although the decline was more moderate. Housing starts fell in the Township along with a 10% decrease in permits. The Borough had a sizeable jump in the number of units, but their overall value dropped 13% while value in the Township was also low.

The Money Pit, guided by tight money, construction figures, and not the auto revival, increased since 1968, but with the saving of credit, expected this year, better times appear ahead.

Homeowner worries did not decrease the number of homeowners from putting their hands on the market. Although property transfers dropped in both years, the total number of homes sold was only 19 years ago last year.

Whether selling prices on homes dropped or not is an other matter. Princeton has always had an active housing market, because of the constant arrival and departure of company executives and the response to academic faculties.

Happily, however, rateables continued to inch up — 2%
in the Borough and 3% in the Township — giving both a big tax bite.

Marling Time. For other figures it was a time of almost standing still. Postal receipts rose 2%, the smallest increase in eight years. Parking meter receipts and telephone service received only 1% increases, far less than in previous years.

Thus if 1970 was a year of some setbacks, of marking time in others, 1971 offers better prospects. The economy does seem ready for a better performance in 1971, even though the nagging problems of inflation and unemployment will remain in the forefront.

Unemployment, definitely, will not be solved quickly. The State's Department of Labor and Industry reported unemployment in New Jersey increased by 0.6 percentage points from October to November 1970, to reach 5.8 percent of the work force.

The rate of unemployment was the highest recorded for November since 1963. The 12-month comparison showed an increase of 55,900 in the unemployment volume in the state and a rise of 1.7 percent in the rate. Although November unemployment rates moved up in all of the State's 15 labor areas, this area, which includes Trenton, continued to post the lowest rate of unemployment.

Employment at the major firms and Princeton plus the University, the largest employer in the area, was down on balance but not dramatically.

The University's combined total of faculty and staff dropped 78 from last year. Western Electric had the largest percentage drop from 608 to 513, and McGraw Hill fell 100 from 1,099 to 1,000.

Some declines were registered by Mobil Oil, 153 to 137, and American Cyanamid, 658 to 650. Educational Testing Service remained at 1,300, while RCA added 11 to 1,393.
FMC 25 to 375 and Union
Camp six to 106.

Vital Statistics. Births at the Princeton Hospital increased 11% for the third year out of four more than 15,000 to 37,418, to 11,811. They rose in the 1 percent increase over 1969.
Township from 158 to 182, but dropped in the Borough from 99 to 74. Overall, deaths rose for the third consecutive year from 411 to 453. They also small increase. Some 10,200 third straight gain books were added to the collection which now totals 71,851. Of films jumped 12 percent over last year.

Marriage licenses were 15 issued to 61 Borough residents, a drop of 13 and to 104 Township residents, an increase of three.

Inflation also caught up with those unlucky enough to have to pay a motor vehicle fine in the Borough. Like every thing else the cost of each violation was raised and the Borough look in a record $144,656, almost $60,000 more than last year. The Township had a small gain to $17,581.
The annual compilation of facts and figures on the past year at the Princeton Public Library shows that it never marks time. The total num-

The library was open 295 days during the year, achieving an average daily circulation of 1,239, another record.

DRIVER'S ED POSSIBLE

But Still in Low Gear. If some budget juggling works out, Princeton High may get Driver's Education and Superintendent Philip E. McPherson told the school board Tuesday night that he hopes to know within a month.

But a motion by William Marvel to institute Driver's Ed. definitely in September was defeated. 4-3. Winthrop Pike and Mrs. Kathleen Edrands voted with Dr. Marvel. Mrs. Evelyn Geddes, Henry Powsner and Williams Abrams were against the proposal. Robert Bierman and Philip Cruickshank were absent.

Mrs. Edwards suggested using money from the board's reserves for the program, but Dr. Powsner said it was foolish "to use family savings or operating expenses." The program is estimated at $17,000. Dr. Marvel cited "strong community support" for Driver's Ed., observing that the subject "won't light fires with the teachers who, rightly have higher priorities."

John Marks, board president, said he didn't accept Dr. Marvel's implication that teachers have a restricted view of education. Dr. Marks acknowledged the problem of teen car accidents, but said Driver's Ed was not, in his view, a high priority item or the only way to prevent accidents.

Dr. Abrams said the board should act after high school and administration show where Driver's Ed ranks. "I won't go over the head of the high school administration or the superintendent," he said.

Two Projects Voted. Unanimously, the board voted to pay $8,000 to National Code Consultants of Princeton to bring policies and procedures up to date. Mr. Pike, recommending the move, said what the board had now was "mish-mash." Coding it would take too long for anyone but an expert.

At Mrs. Edwards' request, board counsel Thomas Cook was directed to supervise the code's preparation. The process will take about six months. The board will then adopt the code formally.

The process is computerized, Mr. Pike explained, so that a single page of the new code can easily be revised if necessary.

The board voted to spend $9,400 for an underground sprinkler system for the PHS football field and baseball diamond. The school's architect, who estimated $12,500 cost, said the present price is "a top-drawer bargain."

Conceding that present budget presentations "Don't give much insight into what the schools are doing," Dr. Marks launched a lengthy discussion of program budgeting.

T. C. Allen, a school board candidate, protested, "We have no way of knowing how the expenditure of money is evaluated and whether it's doing the job — this is the big gap between the board and the town."

Mrs. J. Stuart Hunter said the amount spent wasn't the issue, but "Whether we're getting our money's worth." Dr. Marks observed that such an evaluation was difficult, and George Hill, another board candidate, said the board must try anyhow.

Aides and para-professionals in the system have asked for recognition as a bargaining unit under state law. After details have been prepared, the board must pass on the request.

NEW MAN SIGNS ON
As Township School Candidate. The Township's two available seats on the Princeton Regional School Board will now be sought by four candidates. The fourth, George A. Hill, an IBM executive who lives at 315 Riverside Drive, announced his candidacy this week.

The other three are incumbents William Marvel, T.C. Allen and George Fitzgerald.

Mr. Hill describes himself as "not anti or pro", and says he would not reject the support of either CARES or the Committee for Princeton School. "It would be ideal to gain the support of both factions," he says.

In a formal statement, Mr. Hill cites four "weaknesses and shortcomings" in the Princeton school system which are having a significant negative impact on the educational quality of the present system: on the morale of the students,

ROSES and RHUBARB

BY DON ALLEN

The Lindbergh Case...

Charles A. Lindbergh, a national hero for his daring non-stop trans-Atlantic solo flight on May 20, 1927, became a story of world attention and sought escape from it all. Reportedly he chose to build his home north of Hopewell in the desolate Southland Mountains, after his many flights between New York and Philadelphia, this location seemed to him most remote.

Remote it was — yet one Bruno Hauptmann — possibly with the help of others it's still hotly debated by the old-timers' found his home and kidnapped his infant son. In the weeks and months — even years after that tragic occurrence the eyes of the world turned to this little country town. The hamlet and many of its local citizens became news worthy overnight. I'll not pretend to remember, from personal experience, events in Hopewell at that time — I was contemporary with the Lindbergh child — a baby myself living in Texas. I did grow up in this quiet little village, however, in the years immediately after that incident and it left me with many memories.

Memories like being stopped frequently by motorists — particularly on Sundays. "Hey kid, how do you get to the Lindbergh place?" This was a common question and went on for years. The fact that there was no way to view the home did not deter the curious from trying. Actually there was one view of the home — about four miles across the Valley — from the Mount Rose road — where you could get a glimpse of the white house. Ironically this section of Mount Rose Road runs adjacent to the wooded area where the baby's remains were subsequently found.

Memories like the stories I'd heard of what it was like to be caught up in this unfolding drama. A family friend recalls the road block where understandably harassed local constabulary were checking the licenses of all motorists. Our friend, not in possession of his license at that moment, fished a dog license and was passed. The circus atmosphere that prevailed.

Airplanes used the flat farm fields of the Peter O. Voorhees farm east of town, from which to hawk their selling rides over the Lindbergh home. Local hotels and boarding homes were jammed. Reporters and photographers came from everywhere. Local citizens were interviewed. When stories were being — stories were made up. Hopewell and particularly certain mountain people who lived adjacent to the Lindbergh tract were generally referred as "hicks". Hopewell's own chief of police was characterized by one famous radio announcer as "a rednecked, cheating gun cop." And so it went. Williamson's Department Store, on request — ordered a shipment of Arrow shirts and immediately sold out to men and other worldly types who came on Hopewell.

My grandmother would like to my mother in Texas. Texas neighbors clamored for her letters containing local insights into the progress of the case — unavailable in general news reports. The emotional, clamorous Hopewell, N.J. were eagerly awaiting for a grandmother friend just three dozens away from the police chief. When he was summoned

Am't
Nice

See we got, too, as the thermometer had the toboggan from the mid 40's early in the week to well below freezing by Tuesday night.

It will remain extra cold at least through Thursday, so that there is little prospect of the traditional January thaw which sometimes last for as long as a week. Temperatures will climb sharply by the weekend, but there is nothing mild — even reasonably so — on the distant horizon.

ance and curriculum should be considered, he proposes, to help the board in improving business practices and evaluating proposed programs."

A second and third weakness, he believes, is confidence between board, administration, students and citizens, and he proposes a broader communication among parent-teacher organizations, town groups and individuals to develop a greater sensitivity to honest complaints.

A third area, finance might be strengthened by changing from a business manager system to a school business administrator system, Mr. Hill suggests. He urges more had get detail in presentations to the board.

The fourth area, communications, he asks for expanded communications on proposed details, objectives, expected educational impact, etc., and post decision communications defending board decisions in terms of local community welfare.

A resident of the Township for five years, Mr. Hill has two children in the Princeton schools, one in the high schools and one in the Middle School. He holds a degree in marine engineering from New York State Maritime College and a master in business administration from Rutgers.

BUDGET HAS SUPPORT

Of All School Candidates. All six candidates for the Princeton Regional School Board have announced their support of the school's $740,900 budget.

Princeton voters will go to the polls next Tuesday, February 2 to vote the new polling places, Borough and Township. No school board members will be chosen at this time. The date for school board election will not be set until Governor William Cahill formally promulgates official census figures for the state.

"Our careful attention to available data and recommendations leads to the conclusion that a genuine and successful effort has been rendered by the Board and the Administration," said the statement. Signed by Township candidates T. Allen, George C. Fitzgerald and William W. Marzetti, and Borough candidates

Cast Your Vote

Polls will be open from 3 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Tuesday for the Princeton Regional Schools budget vote.

Polling places in the Borough are: Borough Hall (for General Election Districts 1 & 8); PHIS cafeteria (Districts 2, 6 & 7); PHIS boys' gym (Districts 3 & 9); PHIS girls' gym (Districts 4 & 5).

Places in the Township are located at Community Park School (Election Districts 1, 4 & 7); Johnson Park School (Districts 2 & 8); Littlebrook School (Districts 5, 6 & 10); and Riverside School (Districts 3 & 9).

Jeremiah Ford and Mrs. Hannah Fox.

The sixth candidate, George A. Hill of the Township, announced his candidacy too late to sign the statement, but he has since declared his support of the budget.

"In structuring a budget compatible with increasing costs," the statement continues, "Board and administration have given due consideration to the increasing tax burden of the community."

"It is generally agreed that a 5% overall budget increase at this time is reasonable. However, there are several budget accounts (Districts 2 & 8) have given due consideration to the increasing tax burden of the community."

All candidates "urge every registered citizen to exercise his or her voting privilege on Tuesday, and to vote FOR the '72 budget'."

6 JUVENILES CHARGED

With Marijuana Possession. Six Princeton-area juveniles have been arrested by Township police in two separate incidents and charged with possession of marijuana.

Four Township boys ranging in age from 15 to 17 were arrested at 12:30 Friday in their car parked on Stony Brook Lane by Ptl. Anthony Gaylord in the process of a routine car check. They were released to their parents after being charged with possession by the Township's juvenile officer, Anthony Pinelli.

Earlier in the week, Ptl. Gaylord arrested two Lawrenceville youths, 16 and 17, while they were sitting in a car parked on Provinceline Road. They were also released.

charged by Det. Pinelli.
Police said the six cases would be turned over to a Trenton juvenile judge for review.

NINE WALLET'S STOLEN
Y Victims Love $34. Wallet thieves who have been mining Princeton struck a rich vein last week.

Nine men swimming at the Princeton Y had their wallets emptied Friday, losing a total of $34 among them. All the wallets were recovered inside the lockers in which they had been locked, police said. None of the lockers had been forced open.

The victims and the amount of their losses: Robert Cawley, 10 Westcott Road, $3; David Brodsky, 39 Castle Howard Court, $45; Richard Bergman,
106 Balcourt Drive, $22; Frank Tetz, Skillman, $110; John Kelsell, Penns Neck, $2; Samuel Russell, Hightstown, $22; and the following, all of Trenton:
Charles Peak, $37; Norman
Blair, $40, and Edward Guiden, $53.

Possible charges are pending against two suspects, Chief Peter J. McCrehan reported, who had been issued temporary membership to use the locker room located next to the locker room. Ptl. Arthur Jackson is continuing the investigation.

Two Teachers Victims. Two women, who police said were teachers at St. Andrew's Church, reported having their wallets stolen Friday morning from a classroom.

Mrs. James Dudley, 7 Canoe
Brook Drive, lost $30 and Mrs.
John T. McGee, 284 Dodds Lane, $5. The wallets were found empty, a few hours later by a postal employee in a Palmer Square parking lot.

Two Negro male suspects were reported to have been seen in the church just prior to the discovery of the theft.

Elizabeth Sanford, 910
Princeton-Kingston Road, lost
$3 Saturday when her red wallet was taken from her purse about a table in the Princeton Public Library.

Chief McCrehan, in the wake of such thefts that have struck the Borough, advised people not to carry large sums of money and to keep wallets and purses in their possession at all times.

Tool Box Taken. A grey tool box containing about $150 worth of mechanic tools was reported stolen last week from his garage by Edward Whalen, 35 Harrison Street.

Mr. Whalen told police the box had been stolen between

Dog Licenses Due

This Friday at 5 p.m. is the deadline for buying 1971 dog licenses. It's a state law, but you buy the license locally, in either Borough or Township Hall.

The Township fee is $4, and if you forget the Friday deadline, it's $2 for each additional month you forget.
The Borough's fee is $2.50.

If you don't buy a license and the police issue you a summons, the tariff is $25 and a possible maximum of seven days in jail.

Saturday and last Wednesday.
There were no signs of any forced entry, police said.

TWO HOMES ENTERED
On Marion Road. Two homes on Marion Road East were entered the same morning last week, and in one the intruder escaped with $60.

The money taken was in a grey metal box in a bedroom of the home of Paul K. Perry, 67 Marion Road. No other room was touched, police said.

Mrs. Perry told police that she had left her home at 9:45 in the morning and returned two hours later but did not notice the theft until later that night. Police report that a hockey stick was used to break a pane of glass in a rear door to gain entry.

Between 10:30 and 11 the same morning, someone forced a garage door to enter the home of Mrs. James McNamara, 55 Marion Road. However, the burglar was apparently frightened off before he was able to take anything, police said.

Ptl. William Potts investigated both entries.

NINE ARE FINED
In Township Court. Nine Princeton area residents were fined last week by Judge Burton Peskin in Township court
— six for traffic violations.

Paying fines for infractions involving stop sign violations were Linda A. Auerbach, 18 346 Ewing Street, $20; Ellen S.
Clark, 45, 28 Mason Drive, and Anthony Zee, 25, 34 Einstein
Drive, both $15. Anthony A.
Scaramozzino, 45, of Carter Road paid $25 for speeding 74
m.p.h. in a 50-mile zone.

Gregory H. DeWitt, 22, Willow Road, Belle Mead, and Irene F. Collins, 25, 181 Harrison Street, paid $15 and $20 for careless driving.

In criminal cases, Margaret Shaw, 32, of Trenton, was fined $40 for shoplifting on December 31 at Bamberger's in the Princeton Shopping Center.
Shirley Goldberg of Old Bridge paid $60 for shoplifting in the same store January 6. Both women pleaded guilty.

$200 Fine Suspended.
Charges of loitering with intention to steal and trespassing against Conway McGowan, 22, 246 John Street were dismissed when Judge Pin found him not guilty. The charges stemmed from McGowan's arrest November 25 in Jadwin Gym nasium.

On a third charge of assault, lodged by Princeton University proctor Stephen Verish, McGowan was found guilty but

Judge Peskin then suspended the $200 fine he had levied.

Borough Court. In Borough court Monday, Kenneth Busch Jr., 19, 73 Moran Avenue, was fined $15 by Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. for driving an unregistered car.
Jose Colon, 22, 149 N. Harrison Street, paid $12 for a red light violation.

News Of The THEATRES

NEW "MACBETH"
Repertory Bonus. Originally designed for those McCarter student audiences, a production of Shakespeare's "Macbeth" will be offered three times for the general public as a kind of repertory bonus.
The drama will open this Sunday at a 3 p.m. matinee and will play again Saturday, February 6, and Friday, February 19, at 8:30 p.m.

Fred Morsell will play the title role. Audiences will remember Mr. Morsell as Walter Lee Younger in "A Raisin in the Sun" and as the doctor who loves next door in "All My Sons."

Lady Macbeth will be Joan Weisberg, a newcomer to McCarter repertory who is a graduate of the Yale School of Drama. She has performed with the National Shakespeare Company.

Robert Blackburn is the Banquo and W. G. McMillan, another newcomer, is Macduff. Richard Pilcher, who was in the fall repertory group, will be Lennox and Tzvetell Thompson, who played Asagai in "A Raisin in the Sun," will be First Witch and a Murderer.

Russell L. Treys is directing from an original conception by John Ludwig who staged "As You Like It" and "Much Ado About Nothing" in seasons past.

Electronic music has been composed especially for this production by Paul Alan Levi. Tickets for all three "Macbeth" performances are now available at the McCarter box office.

BERGMAN AT McCARTER
"The Ritual." Ingmar Bergman's "The Ritual" will be shown for the first time in Princeton next Tuesday at 8 p.m. as McCarter Theatre's International Film Series resumes.

"The Ritual" is about three sex obsessed actors caught by a tax investigator. In a series of nine episodes, the three actors perform a grotesque masque and a sexual charade which lead eventually to a ritualistic orgy.

RUSH, AT McCARTER

Folk Singer Here. Tom Rush, a veteran in folk music at the age of 28 or so, will come to McCarter Theatre on Saturday, February 20, at 8 p.m. in a program of folk songs.

As an undergraduate at Harvard, he belonged to the group of young folk singers who gathered at various places in the Boston area and spurred the folk revival of the '60s.

In 1963, a New York Times writer praised him as "that artist name of us thought possible."

"PINOCCHIO": The puppet as Donkey, that is. He's really Bruce Peterson under all that papier mache, and he's in the cast of "Pinocchio," the children's favorite, to be given this weekend in the Fine Arts Theatre on the Rider College campus, Lawrenceville. Observers are Jeffrey Carlson and Marc McCarroll.

"Wrong End of the Rainbow" is Mr. Rush's latest LP, and it features several of his own compositions. In the beginning, he was known chiefly as an interpreter of other people's songs. His collaborator is the singer-guitarist Trevor Welch, who will appear in the McCarroll show with Mr. Rush.

"PINOCCHIO"

Live with Music. The world's favorite puppet, Pinocchio himself, will come alive with music this weekend in the Rider College Children's Theatre production of "Pinocchio."

It will be presented twice this Saturday — 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. — and again on Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theatre on the Rider campus, Lawrenceville Road. After these presentations, the show will go on the road for six weeks, playing benefits in several New Jersey and Pennsylvania towns.

Tickets at $1.25 may be reserved by calling Mrs. James Carlson, 883-0441 or Mrs. William McCarroll, 896-0392.

James Eller, who wrote book and lyrics for this production, is also directing. In previous years, he has directed "Jack and the Beanstalk," "Sleeping Beauty" and "Aladdin" for young audiences.

Jeanne Barge, daughter of the composer Roy Barge, has set Mr. Eller's lyrics to music.

Pinocchio the puppet will be played in this production by Bruce Peterson, a Rider freshman. Mike Gallagher will be his creator, Gepetto (he was the Magician last year in "Aladdin") and Carol Mosteller (she was the Queen in "Sleeping Beauty") will be Angelina.

The Fox and the Cat will be Mike Lawrence and Carlo Altomare. Rich D'Amelio (he was Aladdin) will be Candiewick.

Carl Schwartz, chairman of Rider's fine arts department, will conduct the all-student orchestra. Charles Kampster, resident designer for Rider's Theatre '59, has designed sets and costumes.

MUSHROOMS, with caps of deerskin have turned up at the Eye for Art, 7 Spring Street, to add a usable and trey items to your household goods. Mrs. Helen Benedict sits beside one to give you an idea of the stool's size.

IT'S NEW To Us

MOONGLOW MUSHROOMS

At The Eye for Art. The hippie's answer to the occasional chair is the "Moonglow Mushroom," an attractive, off-beat stool shaped like a mushroom, with stems and gills of handcarved hardwood and caps of nicely stained deerskin.

You can choose from a number of colors for the caps—
soft green, pale lavender, cream, rosy red, and others—
and you will find that the brown stem is toned slightly to blend in with the color of the cap. On view at The Eye for Art, 7 Spring Street, is a lavender-capped sample, the heavy base ever so slightly toned in the same shade.

Mrs. Helen Benedict, who seems to have been the first in Princeton to come up with the fascinating goodies from the west discovered the mushrooms in a New York art gallery. The Moonglow Mushrooms are made by a hippie colony in Seattle, she says.
Price is $150; six weeks' delivery.

COLOR-BRIGHT CLOTHES
For Southern Wear. H. P.
Clayton on Palmer Square has such delightful things for cruise and southern wear that stay-at-homes should drop by,
too, and freshen their spring wardrobe before the best of the crop disappears.

There are sea-life prints with a hand-painted look, paired with pants or worn alone in dresses. Made by Serbin, the pants-suits are a polyester knit in a solid color, with the print top in a lighter polyester.

The Kay Windsor pant-dresses are likeable: a double knit in summery beige; or a merry-go-round print bordered in white ($40 and $36).

Hanbury in Canada has come out with some very beautifully detailed ensembles and pants-suits. It is something of a shock to see them emerge from the crowded racks. A pants-suit in soft shade of apricot wool knit; slimly tailored with a vent in the back, and belted.

Or a long, tunic dress with pockets down by the hem, in a white and gold abstract check. The waist is held by a double rope of white. The pants match. And also the Hanbury in sky blue with a blazer type jacket, edged everywhere with white.

Clayton's is introducing a new dress house, Custom Casual, and among the offerings, is a very striking all silk dress and matching jacket in narrow layers of rainbow colors. It feels like a cotton and will wear and wear. ($125.) The dress is the new longer length,
by the way.

And if you love pure cottons, Clayton's has some attractive ensimies to browse through.
In navy and white print, a coat with buttonholes faced in Chinese red, a brilliant color that appears again in the blouse paired with the navy and white skirt. Also in black and white, accented with bright green.

 of skirt and dress in a fabric that looks like a Swiss curtain has a pattern of green ferns from against a white background. Very sophisticated and cool. The matching cape is $60. ($60)
 For weddings, maybe, or for very best. Clayton's has four ensembles in exquisite detail. The dress designed by House of Lords. The coat is gently belted in the back. Or, from custom fused, rosy pink can rippled and horizontally with contrasting white stitching and a dress and matching cape. ($60)

We may as well warn you now of the new dresses at Clayton's cover the knee. The Key Windsor knits, so are all in the longer length, as far as we could tell. A double knit in red, navy, or aqua and white print seemed to be the eminently wearable and packable. ($28)
 In drop dry cotton and Fortrel, the delicate Liberty print are made up into marvellous simple little dresses. From the square neck, stiched edge tucks fall to just below the waistline where they break into all folds. The colors are genuine beautiful. ($12)

Clayton's also has swimsuits in the dressmaker styles that manage to flatter the wearer. Made by Gabbar in the quick drying polyesters or in all cotton picnic look weaves, these feature watercolor prints in pure color. Among them is a specially designed suit for women who have had breast surgery. The waist strap is designed to cover the scar. The print is summery blues and yellow.

Some of the southern dresses at Clayton's feature embroidered applique, usually on linen, and always with great appreciation of the art. You will see it scattered delicately or dramatically down the front of the House of Lords designs, with the dominant color picked up in infinitely tiny banding at the throat, arm holes, and in the tie belt. (About $64)

For those who delight in shirtwaists, there are sheet pinks and cotton prints, using one color and white, usually designed with shirring at the front and back of the waist, breaking open and falling into the belt. The long sleeves are cuffed and held with two buttons. ($28) We also noticed nearby the Labor's lawn shirts, lined from shoulder to hem, that never go out of style. All in lovely, light prints from the flower garden. The McMullen dresses are interesting among them: a pure linen in white, with a casual blue line giving a plaid effect. The favored A line dress is in Asian cotton, fully lined, sleeveless, have charming prints, white with a navy blue flowers, for instance. ($34)

Dresses at Clayton's include sizes 8's, but must be in the range of 10 to 20, including half sizes. If you're interested in half sizes, see the new "McMullen" dresses by McMullen. They are simple and charming. An airy print in deep green against a white background, for instance, or

BLOOMING PLANTS
For Short In Days Apple Gate's Floral Shop on Palmer Square is a place to consider if you are longing for spring. We have for sale a variety of plants in bowls filled with small stones and water. They will bloom in about six to eight weeks. And hyacinths in blues or white or rose planted four to a pot.
 White and pink azaleas, just at the point of bloom, are thick, little plants that could go into your window. And we saw cyclamen, brilliantly leaved cyclamen, and many more.

We think of Apple Gate's so often in terms of cut flowers, that this time of year is a good time to remember the shop in terms of blooming plants.

Pots filled with crocuses, for instance.

PLAYHOUSE
 Brewster McLeod (now playing) is a black comedy about a mysterious young man who lives in the fallout shelter of the Houston Astro dome, where he works away on wings that will enable him to fly.

Peculiar things happen to the people who cross him up: all are patched to the next world in bizarre ways. The miser, for instance, winds up spinning through traffic in his wheelchair. The mood of fantasy is so strongly established that this seems very funny.

The film goes after the idiosyncrasies of the human race, and is abound in wittily drawn caricatures, cast to perfection.
 In addition to Bud Cort as Brewster and Lou Adler as the evil miser, there are Sally Kellerman as the lovely but insatiable guardian angel of the hero; Michael Murphy as a Bull-type detective; Schuck as a simple minded cop; Shelly Duvall as the Aspidochelone guide who seduces the hero and Margaret Hamilton as the rich woman who likes to sing the National Anthem. There's a lively rock score in the background.

The film was directed by Robert Altman, whose previous offering was the successful "M*A*S*H." It has the same outrageous and funny point of view.

GARDEN & PRINCE
 Diary of a Mad Housewife (now playing) concerns a woman who is a slave to her young daughters. Her Manhattan apartment and her social climbing husband. She is essentially a Women's Lib caricature.

Curtie Snodgrass plays the title role. Richard Benjamin is the unpleasant husband who makes her a laughing stock to her children, and Frank Langella is the surly lawyer she takes in an attempt at self fulfillment.

The picture has tricky color camera work, a wild party sequence set to rock music, love scenes played in the buff and the dialogue runs rampant in the privacy of the Snodgrass' suffers nobly through it all.

TOWN TOPICS reaches every home and place but the Princeton post office. By their own figures no other Princeton newspaper does half as well.

Space Limits PHS Curriculum, Teachers Say

"Educational Planning" will be the subject of the third meeting of the Long Range Planning to get to work on a math project and teacher says no, it's time now to study guinea pigs.

This is the subject every one has been champing to talk about ever since the first meeting two weeks ago. It crowded at Princeton High was supposed to have been the first subject, but a last minute schedule change had day's audience that PHS Principal Florence Burke and other administrators are working on this.

At the meeting last Thursday, members of the Long Range Planning group apologized repeatedly for harrying the horse behind the cart, and Superintendent Phil Hunter, "Don't tear schools up E. McPherson, from the audience, said he couldn't re-

Proper Procedure. "Long range and short range solutions should fit together so we don't throw good money after bad," urged Mrs. J. Stuart Hunter. "Don't tear schools apart needlessly and then decide to put the walls back."

Mr. Bohm replied that the citizens report also felt that long and short range problems were part of a whole.

Mrs. C. Harry Kahn, who presided at Thursday's meeting, told the audience that "Whenever we asked high school teachers how they'd change the curriculum if they had the right facilities, we always ran into the problem of space limitations."

Robert Geddes, who is an architect, asked "Exactly what behavioral failure does this present building cause?" and he suggested that psychologists study the problem.

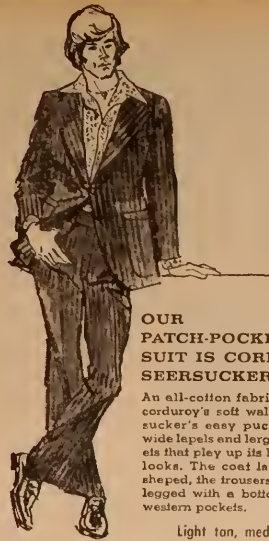

Adaptability Essential. He warned that "Functions change more quickly than form," and urged the community to make any new or remodeled building "extremely adaptable."

But, Mr. Geddes added, "don't always blame the building for what goes on inside and George Fitzgerald, school board candidate, declared that it was a "cop out," to say as the Long Range Report does, that the present PHS curriculum has to be tightly structured and conservative because the building is so limiting.

John Marks, school board president who was in the audience, said a conservative school seems to be what the own wants. Is it the wish of the community or the limitation of the building that makes a structured school?

The "overwhelming impression" from faculty and students is that the school itself is the limited factor, Mr. Bohm replied.

"One teacher standing at a blackboard does that always imply dizziness and boredom?" asked one member of the audience. —Continued on Page 15

Hospital Still Needs Help

Princeton Hospital remains some $25,000 shy of the goal in its annual Fund Appeal, scheduled to close February 22. Half of the defect announced two weeks ago has been raised.

Two weeks have announced that they are already seeking bids to begin construction this year on a modern million-dollar emergency care center. They hope to raise about a third of the total cost in the current appeal, according to George W. Conover, president.

Actually, $25,000 is a small sum of money to raise in a community with the resources of the area.
Princeton Hospital's service, but to raise that amount in the first 25 days of our fund-raising means that every donor must help," he said.
Contributions should be sent to Princeton Hospital Annual Fund, Princeton, N.J. 08540.

School Budget Defeated.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Last week's letter from James Arnold Jr. opposing the school budget is an uninformed and incorrect view which could be harmful to the community.

The rise in all our costs is a matter of concern to every one, but it would be unwise for that general concern to be focused onto a budget which has a smaller proposed increase than the cost of living.

It is unfortunate that Mr. Arnold knows so little about what is happening in the schools or at school board meetings. His first point on driver education, for example, is one on which the board specifically decided not to spend any new funds this year.

The suggestion that there are courses with "one or two or three students" is deceptive; I have been informed there are no regular courses of that size, only a few remedial ones for inept drop outs.

On his other points Mr. Arnold is equally uninformed. Concerning his suggested "school program budgeting," why hasn't Mr. Arnold proposed it to the board previously? To arise suddenly at election time with such criticisms and comments as his is to justify opposition to the budget, helps no one.

Anyone seriously interested in these problems can find more constructive ways of dealing with them than by voting against the school budget.

DAVID REDFIELD
89 Woodside Lane

(The following is a letter to Princeton Township Committee concerning North Square, the proposed office cluster on Mt. Lucas Road. Committee has heard an appeal by the developers, who were turned down by the Princeton Regional Planning Board. A decision is expected sometime in February.)

85% Oppose "North Square."

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I would like to bring to your immediate attention some very important facts that were not brought out at your meeting on Jan. 18, 1971, regarding the corporate office "Plaza" Building proposal (North Square). During the seven months of meetings of the combined Princeton Regional Planning Board and township meetings:

1. No Princeton citizens have spoken up, even once, in favor of the plan for such an office complex. (For each one person attending the meetings or signing the petitions, there are easily ten more - probably 85 percent of the population - who feel strongly that Princeton should not have the corporate office building to ruin their town.)

2. No Princeton citizens have asked for the additional traffic problems because they know too well already that our main arteries are now a serious problem of drastic proportions both in influx and in parking. Many citizens who actually live on some of these particular roads, 206; Ewing; Harrison; and Jefferson, know about the rush hour jams. Mt. Lucas itself will feed right into the already very dangerous Valley Road. Schools area intersection and jam up Witherspoon.

3. No Princeton citizen has risen to ask for the tax rateables via this complex, as it is obvious to most citizens that the expenses involved would offset any possible gain.

4. The forthcoming Princeton youthful citizens are even more against corporate clutter in their town. With their growing concern for ecology and conservation, they would oppose the destruction of our remaining open spaces for the establishment of more office buildings, especially in residential areas. The "ecologically deaf" have gotten our country into the mess we already have!

So, please listen to what has been pleaded for during the last even months and try to remember that government is for the people and by the people - in spite of developers' dreams of glory and legal loopholes that ignore the good of all.

Thoughts on Safety.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
In the past two weeks several ice accidents have raised much concern in Princeton. The subject of ice safety is important, but it is about time to direct our attention to another area of danger, that of bike and pedestrian safety.

The quick fact of evening in the winter leaves the streets of Princeton full of spinning trackmen and bicycling children. Riding a bicycle or jogging on the road is hazardous in the best of conditions and in semi-darkness with ice patches, it can be extremely dangerous. I have had to swerve my car many times at dusk to avoid people and bikes because of the difficulty in seeing them.

Will it take a fatality to make us see the dangerous situation?

Pedestrians and bicycles are hard to see at dusk. I feel it is about time for something to be done, such as requirement of fluorescent triangles or other highly visible clothing to be worn by pedestrians and bicycles. In addition, too many bikes are missing lights which are required.

Please, let's luck the barn door, before we are sorry.

Plea for Battlefield.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Don't desecrate this beautiful place. As Professor Willard Thorp has pointed out, this is sacred land. It belongs by rights to the Battlefield Park.

Is there not, surely, ample room for housing that would be well away from this unprotected part of our national heritage?

Save the Weller Tract.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is a copy of a letter sent by me to Commissioner Richard J. Sullivan, on the importance of saving the Weller Tract.

ELIZABETH B. FRELINGHUYSEN
Mrs. Frederick Frelinghuysen
16 Stockton Street
There is a very strong feeling, as you know, about the preservation of the Weller Tract, originally a part of the Princeton Battlefield, and which is presently the property of the Institute for Advanced Study.

I understand that this land has been, for many years, considered by the State as necessary to complete the Battle field, standing as it does between it and the old Quaker Meeting House. The purchase of this tract by the State will be of the greatest service, not only to the people of New Jersey but to all Americans.

An indication of the strength of sentiment about the Weller Tract is evidenced by the fact that local and other citizens are willing to pay for one-half of the acquisition.

Another aspect to be considered, and a vital one, is the approaching Bicentennial of the American Revolution. More battles were fought in New Jersey than in any other Colony. Many historians consider that the Battle of Princeton was, even though a small one, the turning point of the War in favor of the Americans.

Visitors from all over the country will come here. What a pity if these visitors should find one of our country's most historic sites covered with recently built houses!

What an example New Jersey will set for the rest of the country if she shows her sense of history by preparing now for the purchase of this tract for the education of citizens by preserving their heritage.

I am Advisor in New Jersey to the National Trust for Historic Preservation, and report to them on activities in this State. The National Trust, along with other such organizations, has expressed its approval of preservation of the Princeton Battlefield.

Stop Polluting Now.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
To quote your story on the non-returnable bottle debate in last week's issue:

"It's a matter of educating the public," commented one

Princeton liquor dealer. "Both Princeton company representatives agreed." Beginning and end of paragraph.

What is a matter of educating the public in the eyes of these gentlemen? To buy, not to buy, to return, to throw away, to collect, to recycle? What? I wasn't at the meeting in Borough Hall, but I set the impression that Town Topics had a hard time digging for enough constructive comments for a factual report. However, this member of the public, educated or not, would like to offer some concrete suggestions on the subject.

We do not have to wait for "more sophisticated technology" to cope, at least partially, with the mountainous bottle problem. We have a choice of several approaches, listed here in order of effectiveness:

1. We can boycott all soft drinks in non-returnable bottles.
2. We can pressure (write petition) bottling companies to go back to returnable bottles.
3. We can organize collection centers for bottles to be recycled.

As for the arguments against deposits and returnable bottles:

1. If every company used them, no one company would suffer.
2. As a busy housewife-mother, etc. I cannot believe that my counterpart would prefer driving to outlying towns just to buy soft drinks rather than returning bottles periodically, any more than I would. (How about getting neighboring towns to go along with us?)
3. If Coca Cola found its returnable bottles were "stifling sales," would it continue to use them? Was the Coca Cola man at the Borough Hall meeting?

Why can't we just stop "discussing" whether to stop polluting? Why don't we just stop polluting where we can and when we can? In the case of non-returnable bottles that means here and now.

MRS. KARL M. LIGHT

Topics Of The Town

Ience, "do we always have to have gimmickry and McLuhan displays?"

The teachers who are good at chalk and blackboard teaching are the very ones who want to break out of it into something more," replied Matt Neuberg, PhD student who is president of Student Council.

Twelve-Month Year? On specifics, Alfred Busselle, also an architect, asked about a 12-month school year. Operating and maintenance costs would rise about 10-20 percent, Mr. Bohlen replied, adding that there would be "inevitable friction" in the community from such a change.

Robert Cronin, of the CARES citizens group, asked about using Princeton University physics labs and space at Westminster Choir College across the street from the high school.

Mr. Bohlen said the citizens group would investigate this question again, although it has already been discussed with the University.

"We want the high school to be more of a community enterprise," he added, "there must be more zeal in both schools and the town in reaching out to each other."

Improvements Suggested. A. V. Bedford suggested that a paint, noise lighting, partitions removed to make larger classrooms, better facilities for audio-visual aids would solve many problems in the present building.

When David Southgate proposed separate science 1 a b buildings (see "Mailbox," 14), Mrs. Gordon Mack of the Long Range committee, reminded him of state requirements for playing fields.

Princeton would have only 34 acres of the state required 42, she said. Mr. Bohlen said this requirement was "more honored in the breach"

OPEN SPACE, BATTLEFIELD PARK, AND THE INSTITUTE FOR ADVANCED STUDY

Citizens and neighbors of Princeton deserve a full, accurate, and balanced presentation of the controversy surrounding the Institute's proposed development of the Weller Tract. The ads of the recently formed Princeton Battlefield Area Preservation Society carried in local newspapers last week did not give one.

The Institute has for many years provided widely-used open space for the Princeton area. Our woods and meadows have been a source of pleasure to the whole community as well as to our own members. We helped to create the present Battlefield Park in 1952 when we contributed almost 5 acres to it from our own lands, as well as the monumental portion that now stands north of Mercer Road. We wish to continue to provide open space and help improve and enlarge the Park, which is our close neighbor.

To understand the discussion that has focussed on our proposed development of part of the Weller Tract, it is useful for Princeton residents to know a little more about the Institute. We are an academic institution engaged in the advancement of science and learning at the highest levels, and draw to Princeton leading scientists and scholars from all over the world. We are small in size and expect to continue to be so. At present we have about 150 academic members, of whom 27 are permanent faculty, and the balance visitors, mostly coming for a year. Because of the small size of Princeton and the scarcity of housing, we help provide housing for our permanent faculty, and house our visitors.

Institute Land Holdings

The Institute owns about 750 acres of land in Princeton Township, with four sets of uses: (1) the academic area — approximately 60 acres. This contains the office buildings, cafeteria, library, and other facilities; (2) housing for visiting members — approximately 40 acres. This tract has 137 dwelling units laid out in garden apartments; (3) housing for permanent faculty — approximately 40 acres. Land in this area, including part of Battle Road, Battle Circle, Maxwell Lane, and Veblen Circle, has been made available for purchase by individual members of the faculty who have built homes on it. Currently, 16 members of the faculty live there, as well as 4 others who have bought homes or land from the Institute. All of these are held under a repurchase agreement with the Institute, so that they will continue to be available for faculty in the future. This land is now developed to the degree that it will be, and no new houses will be built on it. (4) Open space, woodland, and flood plain. Most of the balance of our acreage is maintained as a wooded park at the Institute's expense and is open to members of the Princeton community to enjoy as a nature preserve and bird sanctuary. Some of it is leased for farming.

We foresee no major change in these areas nor any substantial shift in use among them.

The Weller Tract

In 1966 the Institute purchased the area of approximately 12.5 acres known as the Weller Tract, lying between the Battlefield Memorial Park and the Friends Meeting House, with the intention of having it available for future housing for permanent members of the faculty. We selected it because of its proximity to our present academic buildings and faculty housing and its suitability for development. It lies close to Mercer Road and its utilities; none of the other land the Institute owns is suitable for further housing development because of its distance from utilities and roads. No other land near the Institute is available for purchase for this purpose.

In the spring of 1969 the Institute began discussions of its proposed use of the Weller Tract and its relation to the present Battlefield Park with members of the neighboring Friends Meeting, the Planning Board of Princeton Township, the Open Space Commission, the Princeton Township Committee, and the State officials concerned with open spaces and parks. The group then known as the Princeton Battlefield Committee participated.

After very full interchanges over a period of time, the Institute submitted a proposal to representatives of these groups. They found it reasonable and considerate of all the interests involved, including the public interest in the Battlefield Park.

This proposal involved three linked elements.

First, the Institute agreed to offer for sale to the State more than half of the Weller Tract, including the whole of the wooded area and the historic lane between the Clark Farm and the Friends Meeting House. If the State desired to purchase this area, it could be added to the Battlefield Park.

Second, the Institute agreed to transfer to the State, by a 99-year lease at one dollar a year, the 20 acres immediately east of the present Battlefield Park containing the high ridge and field that the Princeton Battlefield Committee considers the most important historic site not yet within the Park boundaries.

Third, the Institute retained the balance of the Weller Tract, the part nearest to Mercer Road, for the eventual construction of at most six individual faculty homes.

The six acres of open land that the Institute wishes to retain have no more specifically known connection with the Battle of Princeton than many other areas adjacent to the present Park. Addition of the 20-acre area to the east of the present Park would make a much more significant and usable enlargement of the Park.

The Present Situation

This proposal is now before the State Commissioner of Environmental Protection, Mr. Richard Sullivan, whose responsibility it is to recommend how State funds for the acquisition of parkland should be spent. There is also before the Princeton Township Zoning Board for public hearing on February 1 our request for permission to build six houses on the remaining area of the Weller Tract. If the Board grants that request, it will become effective only in the event Commissioner Sullivan accepts our proposal. Six houses will be built on the land over a period of years, as new professors join our faculty.

We believe our proposal, made after careful consideration of all the interests involved, protects the public interest. A larger, more attractive Battlefield Park can be achieved at minimum cost to the public. Whatever can really be documented as having historic value is preserved. At that same time the Institute is allowed to provide for the small future growth in its faculty which it foresees.

Institute for Advanced Study

in the observance," but Mrs. Mack repeated that the state has power to act in this area.

Whatever is done to the high school—remodeling or rebuilding—where will the students be stored until it's over?

Dr. Benjamin Silverman, an other member of the citizens committee, said Princeton might do an about-face and arrange with West Windsor Plainsboro to send students temporarily into that system. West Windsor-Plainsboro is shortly be withdrawing 400 students from Princeton High School. Mr. Bohm listed double sessions, more independent study to take students out of the actual building, and rental of space in private schools or at the University.

WHO GETS THE $10,000?
Several Seek Soto's Reward. Just hours after Jose H. Soto had shot and killed Princeton Bank and Trust (later Kristi Plister, February 13, 1968, officials of the bank offered a $10,000 reward to anyone supplying information leading to the arrest and conviction of her killer. Now, almost three years later, at least 17 people could receive or share in the money.

Superior Court Judge John Fritz will probably be the one to decide who should get the reward and whether it should be split, attorney Garrett M. Heher said Tuesday. Mr. Heher, a lawyer with Smith, Stratton, Wise and Heher, representing the bank, is contacting the claimants and seeking any "unknown claimants" through legal advertisements in newspapers.

Among those asking for the reward are the couple Soto stayed with before the attempted hold-up, George and Julia Davila, now of 199 John Street. At the time they lived in an apartment on Lincoln Court, where Soto's gun was found.

Others named in the legal notice are Mrs. Davila's brother, Jorge Ormery Lopez Avila, who Soto tricked into shaving his head minutes after the shooting; Eugene Ryan, a neighbor, who translated for police to give a description of Soto; and his wife, Cecelia.

Witnesses who police interviewed in the bank and on the street after the shooting have also been included as possible claimants. These include a teller Mrs. Linda A. Schwartz; customer David E. Cuzzo of Levittown; two student nurses from New Brunswick, Marianne Gillis and Margaret Disanto; and Joseph A. Meyers, arrested Soto, and Luis Gonzalez, who provided the tip on his whereabouts. Three Borough patrolmen, Lt. Michael F. Carnevale, Sgt. John J. Bellows and Ptl. Charles Harris were also named as claimants but said it would be "unprofessional" to seek the reward.

WHOLE EARTH CHARGED
With Nuisance Zoning Violation. In the only new case to appear before the Borough Zoning Board Thursday evening in Borough Hall, Whole Earth Center, 173 Nassau Street, will contest an interpretation of the zoning office regarding its sign.

"Whole Earth Center" is currently painted on a board attached to three front porch posts; the zoning ordinance requires such signs to be attached to the front facade. If the zoning officer's interpretation is upheld, Whole Earth Center will apply for a variance to keep its sign the way it is.

In one of two carry-over cases, Henry A. Campbell, 39 Chestnut Street, will seek to locate an off-street parking space in the front yard of property he owns at 41½ Chestnut. The Borough ordinance prohibits off-street parking in a front yard.

Last fall, the board granted Mr. Campbell permission to convert a former electrical contractor's shop in the rear of the property into a dwelling place — provided he could

March School Elections?

Elections for school board members may be held in Princeton in about two months — at the end of March, school board counsel Thomas Cook said at Tuesday night's board meeting.

He told the board that the state's attorney general was scheduled to confer on elections this Wednesday with Superior Court Judge Frank Kingfield and the predictions are that the judge will agree to a late March date.

Once the date is fixed, Mr. Cook said, candidates must have 20 days to file petitions.

Delay in final census figures has held up elections. The figures in Princeton changed the ratio of Borough-Township school board members.

satisfactorily meet all the parking requirements.

Robert Tuschak wants to add eating facilities at Nature's Best, 242 Nassau Street, but he has to provide two off-street parking places.

Earlier, he presented plans whereby he would provide them across the street, leasing one from Ross' BP Service Station and one from the parking lot in front of the Karl Linder Building. The ordinance however prescribes that such spaces must be provided by deed restrictions, not leases, hence Mr. Tuschak's appearance.

THE SUBJECT IS SILVER

In Historical Society Series. "New Jersey Silver" is the subject of the next lecture in the current series offered by the Princeton Historical Society.

The lecturer, Mrs. Henry Savage, will speak next Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. in the Parish House of the Methodist Church, Vandewater Street.

These lectures are free and the public is invited. Coffee will be served at 10 a.m. at Bainbridge House, the Society's headquarters at 158 Nassau.

Mrs. Savage is a life member of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania and the Cumberland County Historical Society. She is a descendant of well-known New Jersey silver smiths.

CHANGES ARE MADE

In Adult School Lecture Series. The Princeton Adult School lecture series, "The Counter-Culture," will begin this Thursday evening along with the majority of other Adult School classes. A few got under way Tuesday evening.

The lecture series, beginning at 8 p.m., will cover the roles and attitudes of youth and dissident groups in today's society. For the first lecture there will be a change on the topic and the guest speaker.

Professor H. Hubert Wilson, professor of politics at Princeton, will speak on "Repression, U.S.A." The series will meet in Room 141 not in the auditorium as previously announced.

Those who still wish to register for language classes and the lecture series should get to the school's main entrance just before 7:30 on Thursday. Parking around the school is always a problem and car pools should be formed, if possible.

ICE SAFETY STUDIED

Enforcement a Problem. Officials of the Princeton Recreation Board as well as the Borough, Township, and Princeton University met this week to thrash out the problem of how to designate more effectively safe skating areas on Carnegie Lake and the thornier problem of enforcement.

Joining together for a solution to the need, which was underscored two weeks ago by the near drowning of three skaters who fell through the ice, were Ed Donah Barr, executive director of the Princeton Ice Skating Club, and

TWO WORKSHOPS SET

On College Admissions. Two college admissions workshops are being sponsored by the Guidance Department of Princeton High School for junior students and their parents at 8 p.m. on consecutive Wednesday evenings, February 3 and 10 in the PHS cafeteria. On February 3 a change in format for the sixth annual guidance program will feature John Osander, director of admissions at Princeton University, as moderator of a panel discussion by PHS alumni and students.

Mrs. James Ward, PTA president, will open the program which is designed to inform juniors and their parents about college admissions in general and about some of the bases upon which college selections are made.

In previous years the workshops have attracted a turnout of 200 to 250. Junior students have always been welcome but this year members of the junior class are being urged to attend with their parents.

The February 3 panel moderated by Mr. Osander, will focus on preparation for college and criteria to consider in the selection of a college. Panel participants are scheduled to include Joseph DiMiglio, Mercer County Community College; Miss Marsina Scott, Traphagen School of Fashion; Miss Leslie Vial, Princeton University; Simon Vishnevsky, Columbia College; Miss Ella Hullfish, Newark State College; Miss Elaine Lauhak, Princeton High School Class of 1971, and Michael Lemunick, also Class of 1971.

The February 10 workshop is designed to be informal providing the opportunity for parents and students to meet in small groups with their guidance counsellors, who will answer questions pertaining to the practices and procedures of the high school guidance department concerning preparation for and actual application to college.

Parents and students are asked to meet directly with the counsellors in the following rooms: A.C. Marvin Trialman, Room 145; D.G. Donald Ringkamp, Room 146; J.H. Mrs. Mollie Updike, Room 147; M.P. Dewey Brookholdt, Room 148; Q.S. Richard Salton, Room 151; T.Z. Mrs. Thelma Bornheimer, Room 154, and scholarships, Mrs. Ethel Thomas, C 22.

Books and other informational aids for college-bound students will be on display in the cafeteria and may be purchased before and after each session through the cooperation of Male's Book Shop. In addition packets of materials have been prepared for distribution following the first meeting.

George Petrillo, Director of Guidance, said the format of the workshops is constantly being changed to provide for shifting needs. At the end of this second session parents will be asked to help evaluate the workshop program.

About the author — Dr. Lewis is a specialist in the intellectual and personality development of infants and young children. He is senior research psychologist in the Human Development Research Group at ETS, adjunct professor of developmental psychology at the University of Pennsylvania Graduate School of Education and a fellow of the American Psychological Association. Currently writing a book on infant development for Prentice Hall, he is married and has two very small children of his own.

The Rising Generation

THE ISSUE OF GIVING UP —

Michael Lewis, Director,
Infant Laboratory, Educational Testing Service.

For parents and educators, one of the most interesting developments to emerge from the recent psychology investigations is the strong indication that the intellectual growth of an infant is closely linked to the responsiveness of the people around him.

That is, a baby whose mother or father, or caretaker pays attention to him, answers him when he cries, smiles at him when he smiles, talks to him, and plays with him. Learns more and learns it faster and is generally brighter than a child who is ignored.

Psychologists considering the mother-child interaction have recently given much attention to the nature of the maternal response to the infant's behavior as the basis for the infant's intellectual growth and have suggested that at least two dimensions of the mother's response are important in affecting the infant's development. One is the total amount of stimulation provided the infant by the mother, while the other is the relationship between the infant's behavior and the mother's response.

While recognizing the importance of the quantity of stimulation provided the infant, it is the relationship between the infant's response and its outcome that is of primary concern. In this interaction, an important motivational principle is established, namely, the infant's belief or expectation that his behavior has consequence in affecting his environment.

Let me present an example: The infant experiences some physical discomfort (call it hunger) to which he responds by crying. Assume that the mother, hearing the cry, goes to the infant, picks him up, and feeds him. If her behavior is consistent, it reinforces the event-action (namely, discomfort-cry) and develops within the infant an expectation. The plan or expectation built by the infant is produced in this manner: uncomfortable sensation — action — cessation of sensation. In other words, his cry or behavior was effective in relieving his pain.

How much different is this from the experience of the infant who cries under the press of an uncomfortable physical sensation and is not picked up and led consistently or who cries and is not attended to because his mother, busy with other children, cannot reach him until several minutes after the onset of crying when he can no longer remember the event-action relationship.

Or the institutionalized infant who, because of the institution's schedule cannot be held when he wants to and is held when he does not want to be. In other words, although he may receive equal amounts of stimulation, these are unrelated on his action and thus, the principle of affecting his environment by his action is not learned well or is delayed.

In general form, what we have been hypothesizing is that quantity and timing of maternal response to the infant's behavior, and the degree of consistency of her response have important motivational qualities, namely, it develops and reinforces the infant's belief that his behavior can affect the environment.

The study of institutionalized infants provides information to support this motivational view. It has been shown that institutionalized infants differed from home-reared infants not in whether they exhibited a skill or when they reached a developmental stage, but whether they used their skill.

For example, data indicate that the institutionalized infant stands up in his crib at about the same age as the home-reared infant. That is, the maturational sequence was unfolding at the same rate for each of the groups, but the institutionalized infants showed no desire to practice the skill.

It was the motive rather than the skill or structure that differentiated these groups. It was not how much of the skill or structure that was important in differentiating the infants, rather it was the motivation to use the skill.

We suggest that the basic quality of that lack of action was the infants' belief that their behavior could not affect their environment. With such a belief, it was little wonder that they gave up.

This issue of giving up can be seen in the disadvantaged groups at later ages. That is, if they cannot affect their environment, then what is the sense in trying. Lower class children, in a number of studies, have demonstrated that they lack the belief that their actions can affect their environment. Moreover, data on attainment indicate that it is an important variable for predicting achievement behavior and learning. The firmer the belief that one's actions are effective in controlling reinforcement, the greater the achievement behavior and the better the learning.

It is the growing belief that individual differences in the motive of powerlessness are acquired in infancy as a direct function of the relationship between the infant and its caretaker, most often his mother.

With this in mind, it becomes clearer that the role of the mother in the child's intellectual growth is not restricted to emotional security but also rests in her ability to provide a strong motivational basis for learning.

singer and teacher Elizabeth Schumann at the Curtis Institute. She received her degree from the Lawrence University Conservatory in Appleton, Wisconsin, and did further study with William Herman versy in Berlin. In New York, Miss Emmons also studied in Milan Italy, on a Fulbright Scholarship. She has been teaching voice at Princeton University for the past six years.

Miss Emmons has given several recitals in Princeton.
Last year her recital featured a group of Brazilian songs by Villa Lobos.

For her upcoming recital,
she will perform the Chansons Madecasses, by Ravel and Paulsen's "La Dame de Monte Carlo" (a dramatic song for soprano with words by Jean Cocteau). Miss Em-mons will also sing additional songs by Paulsen, and by Searfully Hugo Wolf and Ed-

Buxtehude, with a string ensemble. This choir will also sing a group of 16th and 17th century works for unaccom-

Madrigal Singers, who participated in St. Andrew's Festival of Lessons and Carols at Christmas, will also sing a group of madrigals by Sweelinck, Weekes, and Lassus.

The choirs have performed extensively throughout the

New York's Town Hall. Last season they also participated in the Town Arts Festival, co-sponsored by McCarter Theater and the Trenton State Museum.

Completing the program will be a Buxtehude solo cantata,
"Herr, auf dich trau' ich," for soprano and strings, sung

Andrew's soprano soloists. The

Penn Must Win Thursday to Hold High Ranking

WHY THEY CALL IT A LAY-UP: Bill Daake, 6-3 Princeton sophomore, drops in an uncontested two points for the Tigers. In their 91-51 victory Saturday over Davidson, Daake added 18 points to help victory's equal highest total recorded since Jadwin Gym opened.

SPORTS In Princeton

Will the pressure be on Pennsylvania's unbeaten basketball team when Princeton well below the .500 mark, faces the finely-balanced Quakers Thursday night in the Palestra? Logic dictates that it will, partially because the Tigers are playing with an eye to the future, and to a greater extent, because the Philadelphia quintet is caught in the unrelenting glare of the spotlight focused on it by the national rankings.

Penn has been rated the fourth best team in the country for the past four weeks, and in common with all others among the top dozen or so, vastly enjoyed seeing the perennial leader, UCLA, drop from the unbeaten ranks with a loss to Notre Dame. Not only did the Quakers begin the week hopeful of moving up a notch in the rating game, but their outstanding 15-and-0 mark left them one of the three major teams in the U.S. to have won them all so far this winter.

The tightness is accordingly bound to increase as Penn takes the court against any team with an outside chance of making national headlines by upending the Quakers. Princeton's chances are, of course, strictly of an outside variety, just as any 3-8 team would have in facing an undefeated opponent away from home.

The Tigers returned from the term-end exam break with a near-unbelievable Joklyl and Hyde performance, whipping Davidson, the Southern conference leader, 91-71, only to give all their short-lived glory away again with a wretched performance in losing to unimpressive Penn State, 70-62. However, if they care enough, they could take Penn right down to the wire, because the Quakers will have one eye on the game and the other on the pressure-packed national rankings.

Saturday Game on TV. The Saturday afternoon game against Rutgers in New Brunswick will be televised on NBC's Channel 3 and 4, starting at 2 p.m. For Princetonians who had in mind trying to buy tickets, it is just as well the handbox Rutgers gym was sold out before the season started.

Sophomore-dominated as the Tigers are, Rutgers has a 7-3 won-loss mark against opposition several cuts below that booked for the Orange and Black. On potential, Princeton can win in its last non-Ivy game of the season, the straight league contests, starting Friday, February 5 against Columbia in a game which will complete the schedule.

DAVIDSON DEFEATED
As Tigers Shoot 54%. Giving far and away its best performance this season despite a fort night's break for examinations, Princeton's slowly-maturing basketball team struck a blow for the Ivy League Saturday as it trounced Davidson, a leading member of the basketball-minded Southern Conference, 91 to 71. The visitors, who took an 8-5 record into the game, were without the services of high-scoring Bryan Adrian but the Tigers did just about everything well and one player could not have made the difference. With Brian Taylor hitting on two quick baskets, the home team jumped out to leads of 8-2, 19-2 and, with five minutes to go, 31-17. Shortly thereafter, Taylor reentered the ankle that has bothered him since the beginning of the season and hobbled off the court. He was back in action when the second half began, however, and the Tigers remained in control, their lead ranging from a low of 9 (40-31) to as many as 27 (79-52) before they settled for the 20-point margin at the end.

While Taylor with 23 and Ted Manakas with 21 were outstanding in the back court, it was the greater aggressiveness in shooting and rebounding by sophomores Bill Daake and Bill Kapler that gave Princetonians reason to believe that this team will eventually come of age. Daake, averaging seven points a game, hit for 18 on a fine 6-for-11 from the floor and 6-for-8 at the free-throw line. Kapler added only 6 points but made nine of the 14 rebounds he and Daake pulled down between them.

A team shooting average of 59% — 20 points higher than the visiting southerners — told the story. It had to, because the officials, one from the ECAC and one from the Southern Conference, had an apparent race going to see which could call more hair-line fouls.

The more aggressive Tigers were the victim of an unbelievable 32 such calls. David on drawing 19. The losers got 47 shots from the line, a Jadwin Gym record, but could make only 29.

Captain Bill Sicker, Kapler and the latter's replacement, Gerry Couzens, all fouled out, and three other Tigers went down to the final buzzer with four on them. Despite their problems in this department, however, shooting such as Taylor's 10 for 17, Manakas' 9 for 13, Daake's 6 for 11 and reserves Jim Sullivan's 4 for 7 and Al Duffy's 4 for 4 game the 3900 fans in Jadwin a glimpse of this team's potential. Jackson Gym record for the day, despite Monday night at University Park. Pa. The Tigers managed to lose to the Blue Devils in a game team, 70 to 62. Ray, one of the worst performers, admitted to 10 fouls and 10 Black quints.

While the Blue Devils' loss was a surprise, even greater was the concern about the team's offense. In one instance, as provided by the Princeton press, to play some defense basketball. So the Tigers had their attitude changed. They had a 10 to 9 tie team who had lost eight of its first 11 games, led by 10 points or better, did a most of the first 25 minutes.

If the Blue Devils gave point to the Nittany Lion, the offense was equally inept. All except Brian Taylor, who had a 10 to 9 tie team, 33 points, the line sophomore guard outmanned the combined effort of every other Princetonian to see action by four. Obviously, none of them was in a class with Duke's made 9, Seiler 6 and Mann 6, who went scoreless for 39 minutes before sinking a field goal in the final minutes.

Symbolic of the trouble, Princeton had an offense was the highly enjoyable evening Penn State's Chuck Crist had. Averaging 17.1 in the season, he hit for 23 against the Tigers. Time and again the Orange and Black was outbounced by a team so lacking in height that the 6-2 Crist started at forward. A lack of aggressive play that Princeton may well kept the Tigers below the 500 mark for the entire season by doing it has not plumbed in nearly 15 years.

LEAGUE LEADERS NEXT

For Floundering Hockey Team, A Princeton hockey team which has lost both its last two games to date and stands 1-12 on the season will face two of the Ivy's best in the week ahead. The prospects for a turn-around, according to Ivy, remain dim.

Cornell, defending Ivy and NAA champion, will be here Saturday at 2. The Ithacans have won 20 of their 22 games and last weekend handed strange Ithaca University its first defeat in 14 starts this season.

The Red, which fields a lone native American among its roster of 17 skaters, lost two of its first four games under new coach Dick Bertrand, but is now working on a 16 game winning streak. Senior Brian Cropper, third in the east with a 2-4 goals allowed average, is in the circle for Cornell, which again has a fine combination of brilliance and depth.

Brown, due here next Wednesday night at 8, is no better than 5-7 on the season but includes Cornell among the teams it has beaten and is currently leading the Ivy League. Yale, Dartmouth and Princeton are the Bruins' other victims. The Tigers losing at Providence last month, 6-5, after dispatching a 4-1 lead. The Rhode Islanders were but rather heavily by graduation but still have put enough together to make an early run for the title. By season's end, however, it figures to go to either Cornell or Harvard.

Providence Wins Here, 3-2. Hopes of continuing the winning form they found against Colgate on January 11 lasted throughout the examination period for the oft-beaten Tigers but had gone nglimmering.

DARYL ROONE doesn't score much for the PHS basketball team but he is a good jumper and uses his 6-1 1/2 height to give the Little Tigers strength under the boards. He is a senior.

Well before Saturday's game with Providence ended. Once again, inaccurate passing hampered the process of clearing the puck out of the Princeton zone and kept the attack from applying pressure on the visitors' goal.

Two long shots which heat, goalie Ed Swift got the Franks off to a 2-0 lead before the Orange and Black scored at 17:30 of the first period. The light came on following a well-defined play that saw Tom Hameline flick the puck in from just outside the crease with Swift going to Roger Kyle and Jim Tittemore.

Thereafter, however, Providence widened the margin, leading 5-1 with the second period ending, 6-3, in its favor following goals by Scott and John Stuckey for the Tigers. The best hockey Princeton displayed all afternoon came when they prevented the Franks from scoring while they had a two-man advantage for a minute and 26 seconds, but the performance was not reflected in the final score.

PHS HAS WEEK OFF

Morrisville Here Wednesday. Because of a scheduling change made to accommodate Kwing, the Princeton High School basketball team will not play its usual Friday night game this week.

It will resume action Wednesday against Morrisville, which the Little Tigers dropped last year, 32-30, on Paul Rid del's shot as the final buzzer was sounding. Tapsell of the PHS gym will be at 8 p.m.

In and Out. The Little Tigers need a few more breaks like that to get themselves righted. In their first home appearance since December 18, when Larry Ivan's quintet dropped another one Friday, this time to Hamilton, 37-33.

"Overall, we played a decent ball game," Ivan observed. "We were moving the ball well. The shots were dropped open but it was in and out and not all night." What made it doubly painful for Ivan to watch was that a large percentage of shots his team blew were easy layups.

Ivan reported that Charlie Ross, the Hamilton coach came up to him after the game and said, "If your shots had dropped, we would have gone home a loser today." Enough of the Hornets' shots dropped to enable them to win their fifth game in 10 starts: PHS lost its eighth straight and twelfth in thirteen.

Billy Evers, as he has in every game but two, was high man for the Little Tigers with 17 points — half of his team's output. "Billy is doing a fine job for us, but we've got to get someone else to complement him," said Ivan. Tom Nudung came closest in the Hamilton game with eight.

"They did press us some but it didn't bother us that much and we made some mistakes, but not as many as the past. We played a nice game. They all did it — but the ball just wouldn't go in the basket."

"We're not that bad," con

HUN STILL SEARCHING
For Basketball Spark. After area rival Pennington School sent Hun down to its sixth loss in nine games here Friday afternoon, 71-59, Hun coach Dave Leece commented, "This is the best game we've played."

If a loss represents the best his team has done this season, then you're right in assuming the Hun has had its troubles on the court. "I don't know what it is," said a puzzled Leece. "We just haven't been able to come alive."

Hun will play two non-Penn Jersey league opponents next. It will be at Newark Academy Friday afternoon and entertain Bordenown Military Institute here Wednesday.

The team was scheduled to play in Newtown, Pa. this Wednesday against George School in a league game.

Against the visiting Red Raiders from Pennington, who are currently 8-2 and having one of their better seasons under coach Don Spivey, Hun battled from a 31-26 halftime deficit to close within 47-45 at the end of the third period.

But while Hun was getting virtually all its scoring from big, 6-3, 235-pound Dirk Whitehead underneath — he finished with a game-high 27 points — Pennington was receiving support from all five of its starters. In the end, the visitors' superior balance and the shooting of Rick Young were too much.

Pennington outscored Hun 24-14 in the final eight minutes. After the visitors had gone ahead 58-49 with 3:52 to go, a layup by Whitehead with 2:16 remaining brought Hun to within seven, 68-53, but that was the losers' last threat.

Lee Van Horn, diminutive co-captain of the Hun, squad added 13.
All Pennington's starters finished in double figures. Young had 21, Handy Cooper 14 (eight in the first half), Bill Ayerakis 13, Bob Dunn 12 andmond, the 6-5 center, waged a successful game-long battle with Whitehead under the boards.

Larries Win Big. Hun played its poorest game of the campaign earlier in the week when it was trampled, 77-38, by Lawrenceville. After three periods, the home-team Larries were on top, 55-16.
"We were just terrible," said Leece.

OVER 500 NEXT GOAL
Of PDS Hockey Team. Shooting to push its record over the 500 mark, the Princeton Day hockey team will meet Wisconsin Hockey Club at 4 p.m. Friday at home.

It's rather unusual for a PHS hockey team ever to be below 500 with the school's fine record it hockey, but the Panthers fell heavily into the loss column from the beginning after their tough New England trip. An overtime loss to Lawrenceville hurt also.

However, a pair of wins last week brought the Blue and White's record to 4-4, and the 2-1 victory over Hill School, in particular, showed the Panthers have the ability to play good, hard-nosed hockey against strong teams.

Hill's larger players dominated play in the first period, and came away with a one-goal advantage after a mix-up in front of the PHS net. PDS put on most of the pressure in the second period, and tied the score on a shot by Sam Rodgers. Artie Mittenacht got the assist.

Clutch goaltending by Tom O'Connor turned away several Hill rushes in the third period and sent the contest into overtime. Remembering the Lawrenceville game, PHS kept out of penalty trouble and let Hill make the mistake. With 14 seconds left in the first overtime the home team drew a two-minute penalty.

broke through, passed to Rodgers who took it all the way in out faked the goalie and whipped home the winning tally.

On Friday, the Panthers narrowly missed being upset by a revenge-minded Cranford team. PDS won easily in the first meeting between the two, but suffering from a letdown after the Hill game, barely escaped with a 2-1 triumph.
Laurion Yakam took care of all the scoring for PDS, putting the Blue and White ahead

PDS FIVE SPLITS
 Friends Central Next, Beaten by a strong George School Princeton Day basketball team resumed its climb toward respectability with a victory over MacArthur Military Academy. The win was the Panthers' second in eight contests.
 This Friday, the Blue and White will meet Penn-Jersey foe Friends Central, 4:30 on the season, a fairly good team, especially in playing in its own backyard, which features a basketball court about the size of your living room. This Wednesday in its gym, PDS was scheduled to meet another formidable opponent in Ward law, which boasts a 9-2 mark so far.

Tenth grader Mark Ellis worth came off the bench Friday to pump in 20 points for the Panthers as they turned a close contest into a rout in the second half against MacArthur winning 69-50. Rebound by two at the end of the first period, PDS got last minute baskets from Carl Jacobelli and Tony Dale to take a 25-22 lead at the half.
 The margin should have been much greater, but PDS missed one layup after another in the early going. This problem disappeared in the second half, and using a full court press, PDS ran off 17 points and MacArthur never seriously threatened again.
 On Wednesday, PDS led briefly against George, but could not contain the Penn Jersey power for very long. George led by five at the first period and by 10 at the half. Steve Bush led the Blue and White with 14 points.

Brick Township.
 The visiting PIS skaters held Brick, which had defeated them earlier this season, 5-1 scoreless until the final second of the first period. Then Brick used its superior numbers to wear down the Blue and White, scoring four more in the last two periods to make it a 5-0 final. "We looked better in the first period even though they scored and we didn't," said Doherty.

"The team played very well, they played both ends and played hard," Doherty continued. "If anyone deserves to take the blame for the loss, it was the coach who wasn't smart enough to get tired lines off fast enough." Doherty, in his first year as coach, is going with a team comprised of almost entirely of underclassmen.

The contest was the Little Tigers fourth of the season and their fifth loss. It was Brick's 22nd game.
 Princeton High's scheduled game with Beacon Hill last week not held because, Doherty reported, the Beacon Hill Club had disbanded.

COMPETITION SATURDAY
 For Tournament Ball Boys, Princeton junior tennis players will have an opportunity to see if they can qualify as ball boys Saturday morning from 8 to 9:30 at Jadwin Gymnasium for the forthcoming interschool intercollegiate championships.

Sponsored by Princeton University, under the direction of coach John Conroy, the tournament will feature 32 of the top college players in the east. It will be held the weekend of February 19-21 at Jadwin.

Nine separate classes are being held, each limited to five students. These are being conducted at the Princeton Racquet Club on Saturday and Sunday afternoon and all day Saturday at Stuart Country Day School Gym. Participating are members of the Princeton Community Tennis Program's Tournament Group, Gold and Silver Cup Squads.

In addition, the Princeton Recreation Department in operation with Princeton University conducts a free program every Saturday morning from 8 to 9:30 at Jadwin Gym.

Y Sports Banquet Set

The YMCA Midget Baseball League will hold its 2nd annual sports award banquet at the YMCA on Monday, February 8 at 6:30 p.m. Invitations to attend will be mailed to all boys and fathers who participated in the 1970 League.
 Additional invitations and B-nugget information sheets will be available at the YMCA office the week of February 1. Deadline for accepting requests to attend the affair is Thursday, February 4.

This is open to all junior players in town of junior high and high school age, with 10 courts available for the weekly 1 1/2 hour supervised practice.
 Joseph Diefenbach is the instructor in charge of the Saturday morning Jadwin program. He will supervise the selection of ball boys Saturday, assisted by Mrs. Doris Moses and Mrs. Jill Burfield of the junior tennis committee.

CEDAR RIDGE NEXT
 For PHS Wrestlers. There are no easy teams left on the Princeton High School wrestling schedule.

Starting with Cedar Ridge Wednesday afternoon (PHS coach Tom Murray is trying to fill a 12 day gap with a match against Somerville) the Little Tigers will meet, in order, South Brunswick, Delaware Valley, Hunterdon Central and Notre Dame. "They're all tough from here on," said Murray. PHS is presently 5-3.

Franklin Wins, 37-11. The tipoff that PHS was headed for a long afternoon Friday at Franklin came in the opening match when Princeton's Andy Foltiny got pinned. Usually, Foltiny pins his man.

Richard Killebrew, wrestling for Phil Ebersole in the 106-pound class, was also pinned as were Tommy Evans, Peter Hagie, and Wes McClain. Hagie was ahead 4-0 when flattened in the final period.

Chris Cassard and Larry Picheley just one-point decisions, and Horie Heiner, 136-pounder, and John Hodges, 168 pounds, also lost decisions. The only Little Tigers to stem the Franklin victory tide were Dave MacDonald (112) and Larry Parker (178) who won decisions and Lou John Rossi got Princeton's only pin.

"Actually we didn't wrestle that badly, they were just physically stronger than we were," said Murray. He added that he didn't know what to attribute Princeton's superior strength factor to but he intends to try to set up a weight program at Princeton, starting in the middle school.
 "Not teams," he said, "but units of teaching. The kids at that level haven't been exposed to it and they don't want to take a chance going out for something they don't know."

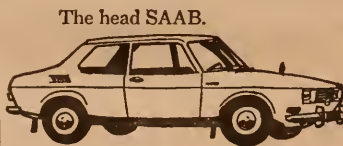

Don Is Routed. Earlier in the week, PHS dominated its match with Hun, winning easily, 47-3.

Foltiny started it off with a pin. Every PHS wrestler thereafter had his hand raised in.

First National Bank to Join $880-Million Holding Company

Directors of the First National Bank have voted unanimously to join United Jersey Banks, a recently-formed registered bank holding company.

Under terms of the agreement, First National shareholders will receive one share of United Jersey Banks' common stock for each 1.35 shares of First National capital stock. United Jersey common stock closed Friday on the New York Stock Exchange at $49.87 per share, and currently pays annual cash dividends of $2 per share.

The capital stock of First National currently sells in the over-the-counter market at a range of $36 to $33 per share and presently pays an annual cash dividend of $.90. Last fall, First National paid a stock dividend of 10%, or 40,000 shares. United Jersey Banks has 1,825,283 shares outstanding and First National 440,000 shares.

The agreement is expected to become effective in about six months, after approval by First National Bank shareholders and by banking regulatory authorities. First National will remain an autonomous, independent organization while combining its capabilities with those of the other member banks to offer many specialized metropolitan banking services in the growing Princeton market area.

Greater Service Available. According to Ralph H. Mather, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, and John F. Hoff, II, President, First National of United Jersey Banks' member would be better able to serve the Princeton area's many varied commercial, industrial, educational and research facilities with an expanding lending capacity of more than $5.5 million for any one borrower, as well as providing international banking, various types of commercial and construction loans, and municipal financing services.

BUSINESS In Princeton

Mr. Mather and Mr. Hoff stressed that First National will retain its present management, name, identity and board of directors. In addition, they pointed out that the exchange of First National stock for stock of United Jersey Banks will mean a broadening and diversifying of the shareholders' investment to take advantage of growth throughout New Jersey in areas served by United Jersey Banks' members.

Messrs. Mather and Hoff reported that "our directors have carefully examined a number of alternative means for First National to better serve the present and future banking needs of the Princeton economic community. It was concluded that the holding company approach, in nearly all respects, afforded the best of both worlds for the shareholders, community, customers and staff. The bank will be locally directed and managed but the Bank's customers will have access to new and expanded services through the United Jersey Banks' affiliation."

First National Bank, established in 1893, operates its main office and one branch bank in Princeton Borough, and full service banking offices in West Windsor and Lawrence Townships. Additional locations in the greater Princeton area are under study. As of December 31, 1970, First National had assets of $88,000,000 and deposits of $79,000,000.

United Jersey Banks, which began operations October 1, 1970, reported $889 millions in combined assets and $777 millions in deposits at year end. Present member banks of United Jersey Banks are Central Home Trust Company of Elizabeth; The Cumberland National Bank of Bridgeton; Peoples National Bank of Monmouth County; Peoples Trust of New Jersey, Hackensack; and The Third National Bank and Trust Company of Camden.

BANKRUPTCY FILED

By Princeton Developer, Timothy J. Sheehan, 216 Russell Road, filed last week for re-organization of his real estate business under the Federal Bankruptcy Act. Mr. Sheehan is the builder of the office building under construction at 363 Nassau Street at the corner of Markham Road. His "363 Nassau Corporation" also owns land in the Township on Stuart Road, which Mr. Sheehan once planned to develop into "Oak Hill," the Township's first cluster development.

He lists with the Office of the Referee in Bankruptcy of Federal District Court in Trenton, real estate assets of $1,901,000 and total liabilities of $656,974, including $481,000 in liens on property.

The $481,000 includes $225,000 on the 363 Nassau property and 94 acres on Stuart Road, held by the National State Bank of Elizabeth; and two other liens on the 363 property, one for $32,000 and the other for $130,000.

In addition, he lists a $45,000 lien on his 216 Russell Road address and $49,000 on property in Summit.

According to the Borough tax office, the 363 Nassau property is taxed at $41,400, which under the 50% assessment means that it is worth more than $82,800. Actually, the figure is closer to $160,000, according to Lawrence Patterson, tax collector. This amount is for the land only, since the office building has not been completed.

Mr. Sheehan owes the Borough about $7,000 in 1969 and 1970 taxes, Mr. Patterson says.

The Township tax office says Mr. Sheehan owns four pieces of property, including his home, with a total value of about $249,200. The heart of the proposed cluster development is an 80.37-acre parcel worth at least $175,000. There are liens on all tax offices say, and Mr. Sheehan owes the Township itself about $1,600 in back taxes. The Township charges 8% interest on overdue taxes up to the first

According to Walter B. Foster Jr., Nassau Savings' President, members' savings advanced to an all-time high of $14,265,148. The Association's mortgage loan portfolio also showed a marked increase and now stands at $13,363,267. ## News Of The CHURCHES

WORKSHOP SCHEDULED

By Baptists and Lutheran. The Racial Crisis and The Christian Response," will be discussed from the aspects of housing, education, employment and the church at an inter-racial workshop this Sunday from 2 to 5 in the River side School. Co-sponsors are the First Baptist Church and the Lutheran Church of the Messiah.

The keynote speaker will be the Rev. Dr. Elmer Witt of the Lutheran Human Relations Association, who was a consultant to the 1968 National Commission on Causes and Prevention of Violence. Most of his career in the church has been devoted to youth.

The nature of the crisis will be explored in four areas: housing, by Princeton Township Mayor James A. Floyd; education, by Dean Joseph Moore of Princeton University; employment, by Stanley Smoyer of the Joint Princeton Commission on Civil Rights; and the church, Rev. Edward Smith, pastor of First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Dr. Luther Krifall of Messiah Lutheran will open the workshop with a statement as to purpose and the speakers will be followed by workshop discussions to organize strategy for action in the four areas plus a fifth, youth.

The workshop will close with reports from the discussion groups. Supper will be served at 5:30 p.m. in the hall of the Lutheran church, followed by a brief worship service in the church nave.

Sunday's workshop, open to all interested individuals, is the first of a number of meetings and seminars to be co-sponsored by the two churches. The inter-church program, which marks Transfiguration

Sunday, will begin in the morning with the Rev. Edward Smith speaking at Messiah about the significance of the joint congregational venture. The sermon will be delivered at 9 and 11 by the Rev. Dr. Witt. First Baptist choir will sing at both services.

TO ADD SENIOR

To Trustee Board. Princeton Theological Seminary trustees voted Tuesday to increase their 30-man board by two representatives of the student body, adding each year a graduating senior who would serve a two-year term.

According to President James I. McCord, the trustees' decision is subject to approval by the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church in the USA at its May meeting. The graduating senior body would be nominated by a committee from the senior class and voted upon by midlevel and seniors.

A group of seminarians confronted the trustees Tuesday morning outside the Speed Library meeting room, demanding more voice in seminary concerns. In a campus referendum last spring, they asked for three student members on the trustee board for three-year terms. The students also want the Seminary endowment of under $25 million invested in non-scientific and non-diversified industry.

Dr. McCord said late Tuesday that the seminary has no investments in South Africa, Angola or in controversial stocks, to his knowledge. He repeated that the seminary has a deficit of $250,000 for the current year and that the trustees' long-range planning committee projected an annual deficit of $3 million by 1980.

DR. BRESSLER TO SPEAK

At Jewish Prayer Forum. Strategies of Survival by American Jews in the 20th Century will be discussed by Professor Marc Brezler, chairman of the Princeton University sociology department, at the Adult Education Forum

Sexism In School Books

The influence of text books on the stereotyping of boys and girls into narrow sex roles will be discussed this Monday in a program titled, "Sexism In School Readers—What Can We Do?"

Sponsored by the adult programs committee of the United Church and the National Organization for Women, the program begins at 8 p.m. at the church, Cherry Hill and State Roads.

This Sunday at the Princeton Jewish Center. The Forum begins at 8 p.m.

Dr. Bressler will trace the patterns of Jewish immigration to the United States, the entry of Jewish immigrants in American life and the issues raised in the 1970's for the Jews in the United States.

A member of the Princeton faculty since 1963, Dr. Bressler previously taught at the University of Pennsylvania and New York University, where he was chairman of the department of educational sociology. He assumed this month the chairmanship of the Commission on the Future of the College, a comprehensive study of undergraduate education at Princeton.

DIALOGUES TO BEGIN

Between Catholics and Baptists. The pastors and congregations of St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church and Princeton Baptist Church, Penn Neck, will hold the first of a series of three conversations Sunday. The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of Princeton Baptist Church.

Topic of the first session is the nature of the church from the Roman Catholic and Baptist viewpoints. Following a dialogue between Monsignor John Endebrock and the Rev. Charles Weiser of St. Paul's and the Rev. Dr. Walter Carvin of Princeton Baptist, the two congregations will meet in small groups to discuss the issues raised.

On February 7, the congregations will meet in private homes in West Windsor. Discussion will center upon the Eucharist, Baptism and the role of the pastor. The third conversation will be at Princeton Baptist Church and will be a continuation of these topics.

OH, SO CLOSE!

But PHS Five Losses 13th. For the second time in two weeks, the Princeton High School basketball team has lost a game by one point, and when you have won only one, and are struggling, that's hard to swallow.

Tuesday night, PHS watched as visiting Madison Township (410) reeled off 14 straight points to start the fourth period and wipe out a five-point lead. The final score was Madison 44, PHS 43.

For a change, coach Larry Ian received some balanced scoring, as five Little Tigers accounted for all 43 points. Sophomore center Leon Robinson had his best game, hitting for 12 five in the last period.

as the home team fought its way back.

Billy Evers, who has been the bulk of the PHS attack all season, had nine points. Ken Bain and Tony Bailey added eight each and Tim Nuding, six.

PRINCETONIANS PREPARE

For Howe Cup Defense. The Howe Cup Women's Squash Racquets matches will be held Saturday and Sunday at the New Haven Lawn Club in Connecticut, among teams from the northeast and Canada.

Four Princeton women will be playing for the New York Metropolitan A team, which won the matches last year. They are Mrs. Jerome B. Webster Jr., Mrs. David Bayley, Mrs. David Frothingham and Miss Virginia Minor.

On the Metropolitan B team are Miss Sally Fields and Miss Adelaide Jennings, Princeton University freshmen, and Paige Aaron and Miss Katherine Constable of Princeton. Miss Constable, 15, is the third generation of her family to enter squash racquets competition.

The Howe Cup was named in honor of her mother, Mrs. W. Pepper Constable of Rosedale Road, the only woman to win the national championship five times, and her mother, Mrs. William F. Howe of Nantucket, who won the championship three times.

Mrs. Robert White of Rochester, a twin sister of Mrs. Constable, won the title twice.

PRINCETON BATTLEFIELD

"A National Registered Historic Landmark in Clear and Present Danger"

— National Park Department
Category No. 1

Do YOU Care?

Princeton Township Committee will hold a public hearing at 8 p.m. on Monday, February 1, in Township Hall.

Purpose: Final hearing on a proposed ordinance to rezone the "Weller Tract" to one-acre zoning. This would permit houses to be built immediately on one small remaining area of the Princeton battlefield.

The Battle of Princeton was the major turning point in the American Revolution.

The retreat across New Jersey after the disaster at Fort Mifflin, the bitter campaign in Pennsylvania; the cutting off of funds by legislatures; the desertions; the prospect of many recruitments due to expire on December 31 — all seemed to spell doom for the Revolution.

Yet within 10 days, Washington (1) crossed the Delaware, (2) defeated the Hessians stationed in Trenton, (3) thwarted an attempt to crush him and his army against the Delaware, and (4) finally won a victory at Princeton on his way to safety.

Princeton was the first victory of the Americans over British regulars since Concord & Lexington. It brought new enlistments and renewed hope at home. It attracted the admiration and intense interest of Frederick the Great and other European nations, which were then — and only then — motivated to send troops and material aid to the Revolutionary cause.

It is this Battle that we are attempting to commemorate for posterity. Should any of this beautiful park site be permitted to be used for private housing?

The "Weller Tract" is 12.3 acres located between the historic Quaker Meeting and the existing Battlefield Park II. It is owned by the Institute for Advanced Study, which is preparing to develop up to 8 acres for faculty houses, roads and utilities — in an area where it owns 800 acres.

The National Park Service recognizes that this proposed housing represents a threat to the entire Battlefield Park.

Do YOU Care?

WE URGE YOU TO MAKE YOUR VIEWS KNOWN:

- Call or write your Princeton Township Committeemen or Borough Councilmen,
- Write to the State of New Jersey.

● "The Township Committee may legally be able to rezone the Weller tract, but it should consider whether it is right to do so, in view of its importance.

"It must weigh the interests of a few hundred people over the national interest.

"The Committee is being asked to rezone it for the benefit of a small private group over the rights of the entire town, state and nation."

— Kenneth Hirsch, Bicentennial Chrm. League of Historical Societies of New Jersey, 1/12/71.

expressing your interest in the protection of the Park, especially the "Weller Tract."

Mr. Richard J. Sullivan, Commissioner
Department of Environmental Protection
P.O. Box 1390
Trenton, N.J. 08625

- Come to the hearing on Monday, February 1.

"THERE IS STRONG EVIDENCE

that the tract designated for construction was a strategic part of the Princeton battlefield. Since the Battle of Princeton culminated the 10-Day Campaign of 1776-77 and turned the tide of the Revolution, it is imperative that the integrity of the Princeton Battlefield be assured by the acquisition of the Weller Tract for the Park."

— Joseph Prendergast
executive director
National Trust for Historic Preservation, Washington, D.C.

The following organizations have urged the State to purchase the entire Weller Tract for the Park. National Trust for Historic Preservation, National Park Service, National Register of Historic Sites, Society of the Cincinnati, N.J. Historic Trust, N.J. Historic Sites Council, N.J. Historical Society, League of Historical Societies of N.J., N.J. Society Sons of the Revolution, N.J. Society American Institute of Architects, General Mercer and General Washington Chapters of the Daughters of the Revolution.
